T•A•P™ INSULATION

T•A•P™

Thermal•Acoustical•Pest Control

Did the cost to cool your home literally go thru the roof last summer? Have a problem with silverfish, roaches and other insects? Tackle two problems with one solution.

T•A•P™ insulation is a merger of two technologies: borate-based pest control and energy-efficient all-natural cellulose insulation. The benefit to you: an environmentally responsible insulation with superior thermal and sound-deadening properties and a unique method of pest control.

T•A•P™ insulation is a revolutionary “green” insulation made from recycled paper for installation in new and existing homes and buildings. It not only outperforms traditional insulation in nearly every category, it also controls pests such as silverfish, ants and cockroaches.

T•A•P™ insulation can be applied over your existing attic insulation. You choose the R-value you want and we will install the amount of insulation needed to match it.
